MAYOR MATHESON DIES IN JUNEAU

Wrangell Receives Severe Shock When Prominent and Useful Citizen Passes Away

HIS DEATH A CIVIC BEREAVEMENT

Was an Indefatigable Worker for the Public Welfare—Straightforward
and Intensely Patriotic

Wrangell received one of the greatest shocks in her history on Tuesday afternoon when a message was received from Juneau stating that Mayor Matheson had passed away.

Mr. Matheson had not been well for several months. On the night of January 18 he was taken ill. A week later it was decided to take him to St. Ann's hospital in Juneau on the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries boat, Osprey. The steamer left Wrangell at 1 o'clock last Saturday with Capt. Edwin Hofstad in command. The patient was accompanied on the voyage by Dr. Brown, Mrs. Matheson, and Mrs. F. E. Bronson. Shortly after sailing the sea became choppy and the steamer tied up at Scow Bay for the night. The Osprey sailed from Scow Bay at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, arriving at Juneau at 9 o'clock Sunday evening.

Dr. L. P. Dawes of Juneau left that city in a small boat Sunday afternoon and met the Osprey at Taku harbor. The patient was taken to St. Ann's hospital and everything possible done to relieve his condition, but his case baffled the skill of the best physicians in Alaska, and at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon he breathed his last.

The news was promptly cabled to Wrangell by F. F. W. Lowie, general agent of the Canadian Pacific.

Although it had been generally known that the Mayor's condition was serious the awful news caused as much of a shock in Wrangell as if he had suddenly dropped dead when in perfect health. Flags throughout the town were placed at half-mast, and his death has been the chief topic of conversation since it occurred.

Mr. Matheson is survived by a widow, Mrs. Mabel Louise Matheson, and three little daughters, Catherine, Glenn, and Elizabeth.

The remains will be brought to Wrangell on the City of Seattle which is due here tonight or tomorrow. The funeral will take place from the Presbyterian church, but the time for the funeral has not yet been decided.

Mr. Matheson was born in Scotland. Before he was scarcely grown he went to Canada, entering the employ of the Hudson's Bay company. He remained in the employ of this great trading concern for about eighteen years. Twelve years ago he came to Wrangell and bought out Carlyon's Department store. The business grew from the time Mr. Matheson took charge until today it is a mercantile establishment of considerable size and importance.

In December, 1917, Governor Strong appointed Mr. Matheson a member of the Council of National Defense.

Soon after war was declared Mr. Matheson was appointed chairman of the local draft board. This entailed an immense amount of work, and Mr. Matheson spent hours daily in attending to the duties of his office and in familiarizing himself with the innumerable regulations and instructions that were received from the office of the provost marshal general. Mr. Matheson gave up all this valuable time with no thought of remuneration at a time when conditions brought about by the war caused his store to require more of his time than usual in order that the business might be adjusted to the changed conditions. The result was that he worked early and late, over-taxing his strength. Being a man of regular habits he stood the strain well, but it was gradually telling on him and a physical breakdown was inevitable. Mr. Matheson was intensely patriotic, although he made no noise about it. It is not at all improbable that he would be alive today had it not been for the extra work of the draft board in addition to his own work. Death is death, regardless of how or where it happens, and if this patriotic citizen's demise came from the strain of overwork in the service of his country he is no less a martyr than the heroes who have fallen on the field of battle in France.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

WHEREAS, Death has taken Mayor F. Matheson suddenly from our midst; that by this death the city of Wrangell has suffered an irreparable loss, and

WHEREAS, The members of the City Council of Wrangell, Alaska, realize this loss to the municipality, and shall miss his sound advice and sterling qualities as Mayor, and

WHEREAS, Our City has lost an honored citizen and the entire community a man of exceptional ability; therefore be it

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the loss of such a capable and useful man; that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in its sore affliction, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our journal; that they be published in the Wrangell Sentinel; a copy be draped in mourning and placed in the City Hall for a period of

EIGHT MORE SOLDIER BOYS ARRIVE HOME

Eight more of Wrangell's soldier boys returned at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. They were Matt Pellinen, Louis Paul, Alfred Berg, Eddie Lynch, Dave Graham, Frank Hudry, Ray Churchill and Andrew Hansen.

The boys made the voyage from Ft. Seward to Ketchikan on the Alaska, and from Ketchikan they came to Wrangell on the Marguerite.

The above men were drafted in the second draft and left here in October. Wrangell's quota for the second draft was 14. Those of the second draft who returned previous to this week are: Elton Barnes, David Daily, Wm. Taylor, Jr., and Clarence Lewis. Only two Wrangell men of the second draft remain in the service. They are: Harry Coulter, stationed at Ft. Seward and George R. Sylvester, stationed at Camp Lewis.

Several Wrangell citizens who happened to be in Ketchikan when the Wrangell soldier boys arrived there, gave them a sumptuous dinner.

The boys have many friends here who are glad to welcome them home again. They say that they particularly enjoyed reading the Sentinel while away.

HOW SOLDIERS GET RELEASE

Major General Leith Tells
How Soldiers Should Proceed to Leave Army

The following will be of interest to people who have friends or relatives in the army whom they are anxious to have home for pressing business or other reasons:

An order by Major General J. D. Leith, commanding officer of Camp Lewis, placed with the United States Employment Service in the state of Washington, headquarters in Seattle, definitely clears up the matter of obtaining the discharge of soldiers from the cantonment previous to their being regularly mustered out with their military organization. This order states that no soldier will be released unless he personally applies to the commander of the camp, stating the need for his release because of sickness or distress in his family, or that his services are urgently needed in an industry or occupation.

Firms and dependents of soldiers applying to the United States Employment Service for the release of men, or to the commanding officer of the camp will not be given any consideration. However, if they desire to supply affidavits these should be sent to the soldier, to be attached to his application for discharge.

The order by Major General Leith was received in response to a request from Lawrence Wood, federal director of the United States Employment Service for the state of Washington, who has received numerous applications from dependents and employers of soldiers throughout the state. The order makes it clear that the discharge of the men will be governed by the merits of each individual application, and in instances where such a discharge would disrupt an existing demobilization organization, such applications will not be considered.

The order received from Major General Leith is as follows:

1. The orders of the War Department in regard to the discharge of soldiers at times other than when their organizations are disbanded are as follows:

"Discharge enlisted men upon their own application when there is sickness or other distress in the soldier's family, or when he is needed to resume employment in an industry or occupation in which there is urgent need of his services, provided that such discharge will not disrupt nor cripple an existing organization, and that the soldier's services can be spared. Consideration will be given to the fact that the machinery of camps must be utilized in the demobilization of the Army and due regard must be taken that it is not retarded by the discharge of personnel connected therewith."

2. Pursuant thereto, the procedure is for the soldier to make application to the commanding general, Camp Lewis, Wash., for discharge. This application is passed on by intermediate commanding officers and finally by an officer representing the commanding general.

3. It will not be noted that the question of whether or not a soldier is to be discharged is within the discretion of the commanding general. It is useless for parties to write to the commanding general requesting discharge of soldiers. If they desire to furnish affidavits or letters in regard to the status of a soldier, such documents should be sent direct to the soldier to be attached by the soldier to his application for discharge. It is only in this way that such documents serve any useful purpose.

Many familiar faces of citizens of Wrangell and Petersburg are to be seen on our streets this week. Most of them have been called here to attend court either as jurors or witnesses.—Ketchikan Pioneer.

Vernon Olsen celebrated the closing of the old year at Cordova by hanging himself to his bed post. He was thought to be insane before committing suicide.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. Bertha Skelton, returned on the City of Seattle yesterday from Rochester, Minn., where she has had her child under the care of the world-famous Mayo Brothers.

Word has been received from Mrs. Chas. Borch stating that her son-in-law, Walter Petersen was a victim of the flu in San Francisco. Before her marriage Mrs. Petersen was Miss Genevieve Swift. She was born in Klawock, and is well known in Southeastern Alaska.

Announcement is made of a wedding which will occur at the Catholic church in Ketchikan on Wednesday, February 5, when Miss Regina Catherine Curtis will become the bride of ex-Mayor Michael Heneghan. They will go to housekeeping in a beautiful bungalow which Mr. Heneghan owns on Nob hill.

Ed Larson and Charles Clark who spent the summer of 1916 in Wrangell aboard the King and Wing in the service of the Coast and Geodetic survey, are now aboard the Arctic Trading schooner, Belvedere. The boys say they expect to return north the coming summer. They will find conditions now somewhat different from what they were in 1916, but they are resourceful lads and will no doubt be able to adapt themselves to the changed conditions.

The publisher of the Sentinel and several other Wrangell people this week received Christmas and New Year cards from Harry B. Eastman who is still with the Sixth Battalion, Canadian Troops in France.

The regular meeting of the executive committee of the Wrangell chapter, A. R. C., will be held at Town Hall, Tuesday evening, February 4th at 8 o'clock.

Josephine H. Mason,
Secretary.

F. W. Thompson, who left Craig about two years ago for Portland, has returned north and is now located at Ketchikan.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Shurick arrived on the City of Seattle yesterday morning. Dr. Shurick enlisted in the service of the country in October 1917.

Chas. H. Borch has obtained a divorce from his wife Belle Borch. The Borches were married in Wrangell on April 4, 1917.

Dr. Brown reports that a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis on last Thursday evening.

Fred Willson returned the first of the week from Ketchikan where he has been attending court.

M. McKinney, owner of the Wrangell Shingle Mill, returned on the Princess Mary Tuesday from a business trip to the States.

Ole Otteson returned on the Princess Sophia Tuesday morning from a business trip to San Francisco.

H. Marcus, the popular representative of the Goodrich Rubber company is a business visitor to Wrangell this week.

Ole Johnson returned on the City of Seattle from Ketchikan where he had been attending court.

Donald Sinclair returned on the City of Seattle from Ketchikan where he has been attending court.

Will Endow Two Beds for a Year in Military Hospital
at Neuilly, France

The American Red Cross
National Headquarters
Washington, D. C.

January 11, 1919

Mrs. Josephine H. Mason, Sec.,
Wrangell, Alaska chapter,
American Red Cross,
Wrangell, Alaska.

Dear Madam:

It is a pleasure to acknowledge the contribution of $1,344.69, received through the Northwestern Division from the Wrangell chapter for the endowment of two hospital beds in France, and to inform you that we have made arrangements with our Commissioner to France to have your wishes complied with.

This amount will endow two beds for a year in the American Military Hospital No. 1 at Neuilly, and we have asked our Commissioner to have a placard placed on the beds bearing the inscription, "Donated by the Wrangell, Alaska chapter, American Red Cross," that those who enjoy the comfort of these beds may be aware of the donors.

Though hostilities have ceased there are thousands of American boys sick and wounded, and these beds will serve a great need in bringing relief to them. Such a gift is a splendid tribute to the members of your congregation and we ask you to extend to each our hearty appreciation of this contribution and the spirit which has prompted it.

Yours very truly,
L. J. Hunter,
Deputy Comptroller.

What is it, and where does it come from? How is it measured? What is the difference between mechanical power and mind power? How can power be thrown away? Can a man be a physical giant, and still a weakling? All these will be considered. Come.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL SERVICE

To Be Held Simultaneously
Throughout the Nation on Sunday, February 9

"Of no American who ever lived can it be more truthfully said that his heart was incarnadined with the flag."

The Alaska Territorial Council
of Defense has advised the Wrangell Council of Defense that it has received from Grosvenor B. Clarkson, director of the Council of National Defense, a telegram urging a general memorial observance throughout Alaska on February 9 in honor of Theodore Roosevelt.

A portion of the Director's telegram follows:
"By direction of the Secretary of War, Chairman of the Council of National Defense, I request all state, county, community and municipal Councils of Defense to do everything possible to make successful the nation-wide arrangements for memorial services to be held simultaneously on February 9, 1919, the date of the proposed memorial service in Congress.

"Because of the particularly non-partisan character of the great Council of Defense system it is singularly fitting that the foregoing action should be taken. The honoring of Theodore Roosevelt is a matter that transcends party belief and personal prejudice. He lived greatly for America and that is enough to justify even those who opposed him, in mourning his death. With iron courage he performed a major operation on the public morals of his country at a time when the public ethics had become dulled, and with daring and unflinching dignity he measurably increased the prestige of America abroad. Of no American can it be more truthfully said that his heart was incarnadined with the flag. For these things alone all Americans who lived in his time should consider themselves in his debt and should turn aside on the 9th day of February to honor his passing from the national state."

HUMOR IN ELEPHANTS.

These Clumsy Creatures Are Tricky
and Dearly Love a Joke.

Elephants dearly love a joke.
When engaged in the timber trade in Burma I observed some queer pranks played by them.

On one occasion I saw a calf play a most ludicrous trick on its mother.
The older animal was hauling a log, which fifty coolies could not have moved, from a river to the sawmill, quite unconscious of any guile in the bosom of her offspring. The youngster took a turn with his trunk around one of the chain traces and pulled back with all his might. This additional weight caused the mother to stop and look behind her, but on discovering the cause she gravely shook her head and prepared to resume her task of drawing the log to the mill.

This was just what the little imp expected, and before the strain was put on again he kicked out the iron hook which fastened the long chain to the log. As the mother again began to pull he held back with all his strength on the chain until her muscles were in full play and then suddenly let go.

The effect was disastrous in the extreme. Down went the old elephant on her knees, and her driver described a most graceful and prolonged curve before he landed on the ground.
But, like a cat, he struck on his feet, and, blurring out some heavy Burmese exclamations of wrath, he whispered a few words into the ear of the amazed victim of this unfilial practical joke. She seemed to understand him at once, and there ensued one of the most exciting chases it has ever been my good fortune to witness.

The calf scented danger the moment he saw the driver whisper to his mother, and he placed a large stack of timber between the enraged animal and himself as speedily as possible, but after a hard chase he was cornered. The maternal trunk smote him on the loins. He gave a shriek. At a second stroke he dropped to his knees and took his punishment bravely and patiently.
A few minutes later he walked past us to his shed, but his trunk was drooping, and the great tears were coursing silently down his great india rubber cheeks.

I was sorry for the poor little fellow, and I noticed that at dinner time his mother was gently rubbing him down with her trunk and manifesting
many signs of affection.—

The Sidesaddle.

It is generally understood that the sidesaddle used by ladies in horseback riding was the invention of the famous Catherine de' Medici while she was queen regent of France, say about 1559. Among her many other accomplishments Catherine was an expert horsewoman and often rode days together in hunting and following the chase.
It was while getting used to her new manner of riding necessitated by her sidesaddle that the queen received the fall which fractured her skull and came very near terminating her career.

A Carnival of Dwarfs.

Czar Peter of Russia celebrated a marriage of dwarfs with great parade in 1710. Dwarfs of both sexes within 200 miles were commanded to repair to the capital. He supplied carriages for them and so arranged the affair that each coach should be seen entering St. Petersburg with twelve or more of these small folk. The entire company of dwarfs who took part in the festivities numbered seventy, and all the furniture and other things prepared for them were on a miniature scale.

An Accurate Description.

"Did you ever run into a telegraph pole?" inquired the elderly passenger.

"Yes, ma'am," said the chauffeur, slowing up the taxicab to avoid a collision with a street car. "I've bumped into telegraph poles, I reckon, two or three times."

"Brings you to a pretty sudden stop, doesn't it?"

"No, ma'am; the machine stops, all right, but I always keep on going."
—Chicago Tribune.

Friendship.

Doctor—Did you sleep well?
Patient—Not a wink.
Doctor—That is too bad. Sleep is our best friend, and especially to the sick.

Patient—It is a friend like all the others who abandon you at the moment when one has most need of them.—Medical Pickwick.

Handicapped.

"While coming down in the train this morning I noticed two deaf and dumb men sitting opposite me. One of them had an impediment in his speech."

"How could a deaf and dumb man have an impediment in his speech?"

"Two of his fingers were cut off."
—Exchange.

Myrtle H., of Wrangell Almost two Months Out Beaches Near Cordova

Belated Story of Thrilling Ex- perience of Three Local Men Who Were at the Mercy of the Sea for Weeks

The story of the Myrtle H. as given by the Cordova Times of December 20th, follows:

Captain V. J. Johnson, M. P. Olson and Verne Clark left Wrangell on October 29 on the gas boat Myrtle H. and since that time they have been at the mercy of the sea. They left their home for Chatham strait to look up some mining property, and after being on short rations and enduring many hardships, Johnson and Clark arrived in town last night. Olsen remained in charge of the boat, which is on the beach at Egg island.

These three men had a very thrilling experience and are fortunate indeed that they are today alive to tell the tale. They came outside to Baranof and lost their rudder between Cape Omaney and Whale Bay on Nov. 5. There was a strong offshore wind blowing at the time, and they drifted out to sea where they floundered around for fifteen days. Finally a southeaster struck them and drove them up the coast. Seven days later Cape St. Elias was sighted from a distance. They then went into Cape Clear and took the rudder in a small boat to Latouche where it was repaired. Another start was made, and while lying off Cape Hinchinbrook it was necessary to get behind Egg island for shelter. Here, ten days were spent, when a high wind came up and drove them on the beach. Johnson and Clark started to row to the Hinchinbrook lighthouse, when the wind and sea swamped their skiff and they were compelled to walk to the lighthouse. There they borrowed a dory and rowed to Johnson's point, where they met the Native mail carrier from Hinchinbrook, who brought them to Cordova last night.

The Myrtle H. is a gasoline boat 42 feet long, 13 feet in width, draws five feet of water and has cargo space for 14 tons. She had twelve oil drums in the hold, and these became loose and pounded holes in the boat, starting her leaking. She is at present high and safe. Johnson and Clark will leave for Southeastern Alaska to get assistance to save the craft.

American "kultur" is making baseball popular in Europe.

Shark hunting promises to be the great shore sport this summer.

Borrowing a baby to escape the draft is surely borrowing trouble.

If there only were some way to store summer heat for next winter's use!

At the end of a perfect day—eat a bowl of mush and milk and go to bed.

Fashion note: Summer waists show no changes in style of shoulder blades.

The fare on the blind baggage still remains on a pre-war basis.

Would those shoes made from the skin of a shark be waterproof? Why not?

Still it is to be doubted whether even war can popularize the upper berth.

America henceforth must hold on small section of the battle line—and hold it.

Coal miners demand beer in their homes. Most people are glad to get just coal.

One swallow does not make a summer, nor does one submarine make a blockade.

The time to worry about a coal shortage and to do something is now and not next winter.

How soon nonessentials become essential once the public learns that it cannot get them readily!

Milliners are advertising pineapple straw hats. Ought not to look so bad with an ice cream cone stick-up.

In a number of instances signs that used to read, "Keep Off the Grass," now read "Keep Off the Garden."

At that, a U-boat captain could not get very much satisfaction out of sinking an old Hamburg-American liner.

The ban on sugar sirups for sodas and sundae will be the first war hardship that many a girl has suffered.

The meatless days are a welcome encouragement to the man who likes to quit work now and then and go fishing.

Under the new rules for the conservation of meat the old-fashioned beefsteak dinner can't happen very often.

Somebody proved by unanswerable logic that there was no reason for an advance in the price of bananas. Then it happened.

Now that we are asked to substitute pork for beef, let some one grab the pig by the tail before it jumps over the moon.

In spite of the new price schedule in the barber shops we maintain that the 25-cent shave is no excuse for raising whiskers.

It's rather a good sign that the champion riveter gets almost as much attention in the public prints as the leading batsman.

When the war is over there will be an unprecedented call for sweetness and light for which the place in the sun will not answer.

There are two kinds of people who are of no help to America: Those who want to run the war and those who want to run away from it.

Turkey is reported as starving and probably has fewer sympathizers than any other nation in the world that might be in a similar plight.

A Pennsylvania draftee writes to his mother that he has got so fat since he joined the army he has to wear his wrist watch on his thumb.

Germany has shelved four generals on half pay. Information is not forthcoming as to whether they were allowed to keep their iron crosses.

Isn't it about time for those neutral correspondents the Kaiser invited to accompany him on that drive to Paris to begin printing some of their stories?

Americans have often journeyed to Europe about this time of the year, but never before in such a steady, stalwart stream and for such a splendid purpose.

A new lawn mower cuts grass with a circular blade that revolves horizontally. Now for the lawn mower that will cut grass while the owner reclines horizontally.

While we are sweltering in the heat a Saskatchewan newspaper reports that its office towel during a recent snow storm was blown from the door and broken in two.

If, as President Goodnow of Johns Hopkins says, people who use old articles aid in the war, lots of us are helping every day, and have the prospect of increasing this kind of aid.

American meat shipments are congesting the allied docks on the other side of the Atlantic, which should be told to those Germans who expected the U-boat to starve England into submission within sixty days.

Russia is like a jigsaw puzzle with several missing pieces.

This is a camouflage summer. You would hardly know it.

Among the clothes that are "much worn" this year are last year's.

There are still plenty of nickel cigars on the market—they merely cost more.

Now is the time for all of us to redouble our earnest efforts to win the war.

It's no joke to predict that if the Finns join the Germans anybody can see their finish.

Copper has been advanced in price, but that does not mean that a one-cent piece is worth more.

The champion war worker would be the man who would attempt to tell who's who in Russia.

It will take more than a food shortage to make some people eat their soup without disturbing the peace.

The price of airmail postage has been reduced, but is not yet down to par with uncertainties of the service.

Patriotic women are said to be wearing silk bathing suits this summer in order to save wool. More horrors of war!

Many a soldier over there gets that homesick feeling when he stops to wonder who is occupying that porch swing now.

Conscientious objectors are getting much aid from military and civil courts in having their brand of conscience re-modeled.

The question is not so much what kind of clothes men should wear, but where they are to get the cash to buy any at all.

The success with which our jacksies spot and sink submarines may be due to the great American habit of watching a bobbing cork.

American soldiers near Montdidier are issuing a newspaper from the trenches. We feel sorry for anybody who drops it to lick the editor.

Clothing economy in Germany is cutting down the number of pockets—which are becoming nonessential anyway with nothing to put in them.

Fortunately none of us will need instructions from the editor how to proceed in a correct manner when the band plays "Die Wacht am Rhein."

The Liberty motor may win the war, but that does not relieve us from the necessity of sending over men to operate the motors, and a few other things besides.

The military mule is still humble in spite of the complimentary acknowledgment that he is expected to take up the army burden where the motor trucks lay it down.

Japan, the old-fashioned "yellow peril," refuses to function in that capacity, to the disappointment of Germany and the yellow perillists of this country and Russia.

Shoe manufacturers warn that to save leather heels on women's shoes will not be high in fall and winter models. Once more, what has leather to do with wooden heels?

The war has, at least, effectively silenced those old timers who used to relate with smug satisfaction the terribly high prices they paid for foodstuffs in Civil war days.

With coal cut off from breweries it is estimated the fuel saving for the country will be 3,100,000 tons annually. In other words, instead of drinking our beer we shall burn it.

Tanks are helping to win the war on American farms, as well as on the battlefield. But it must be remembered that these tanks are strictly mechanical and not of the human variety.

The government's army program is said to be six months ahead of its task, so far as transporting soldiers is concerned. And the world hopes that this means peace is that much nearer.

Canada has sown 16,080,000 acres of wheat this year, or 1,500,000 more acres than in 1917. American wheat production shows a similar increase. Wars are won upon grain fields as well as battlefields.

The drawback in having city men go to the farms and work during vacation lies in the danger that indelible city appetites may be so strengthened by outdoor life that the city man will eat more than he earns.

Two western doctors who "treated" the eyes of draft registrants in such manner as to cause them to be rejected by army surgeons have been sentenced to long prison terms. An eye for an eye, says Uncle Sam.

It is now a year since American troops went to France. Judging from what they have accomplished in that time, and by the rate at which they are continuing to go over, their second year ought to see America in the war as a finish factor.

In the future no order of handbills will be printed in this office for less than $2.50. This is the minimum amount that will justify the labor and material necessary for turning out any order of handbills, regardless of how small in size or few in number. The end of the war has had no effect on the paper and type market. A few days ago we received a shipment of paper and printing material in which almost every item on the invoice was billed at a higher price than we have ever paid before.

FISHING NOTES

(Pacific Fisherman)

H. C. Scudder, chief warden of the Alaska service, U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, has returned to the Bureau after spending several months in training at Camp Lewis.

John R. Beegle, president, and Jack Davies, manager of the Beegle Packing company of Ketchikan, have recently been visiting Seattle. Mr. Davies was elected to the Alaska legislature at the fall election.

Capt. S. Pedersen, formerly superintendent of the Quadra cannery of the Northwestern Fisheries company, will be with the G. W. Hume company's Nakat Inlet cannery this season, and James E. Sales, formerly with the Northwestern at Roe Point, will be superintendent of the Alaska Herring & Sardine company's Port Walter plant.

The Petersburg Packing company, headed by E. Schoenwald, has taken over the Petersburg cannery and all the assets of the Pacific Coast & Norway Packing company, which it has been operating for the last four years under lease. The receivership of the Pacific Coast & Norway Packing company has been terminated, and its entire indebtedness, which originally amounted to about a quarter of a million dollars, paid in full. The cannery is a three-line plant, which last year made a pack of about 112,000 cases. Pacific Fisherman.

J. A. Benolkin, formerly treasurer of the George Inlet Packing company, together with Mrs. Benolkin and A. J. Kronquist of Ketchikan, are now the principal owners of the Ketchikan Packing company, operating the plant formerly known as the Sparhawk cannery, which they purchased last summer. Several improvements were made in the plant, which is now equipped with a Seattle-Astoria filler, a Swanson exhaust box and an American Cannery double seamer. The past season's pack was handled by the G. W. Hume company.

ADDITIONAL HONORS FOR ELTON ENGSTROM

His Speech the Only One of the Thousands Delivered That Was Published in the Red Cross Bulletin

Elton Engstrom, a seventh grade pupil in the Wrangell public school, was one of the contestants in the Junior Four Minute contest held in Wrangell on December 20, under the auspices of the Council of National Defense. The judges, Messrs. P. C. McCormack, W. H. Warren and Mrs. M. O. Johnson decided that Elton Engstrom should be declared the winner of the contest. This meant that young Engstrom would have the honor of having his name enrolled with the names of the winners of similar contests held all over the country, at Washington, D. C. The Wrangell winner's name, and a copy of his speech, as required by the regulations, was sent to the contest department of the Red Cross.

This week Miss Crosno, president of the local Junior Red Cross, received from Seattle a letter from the officers in charge of contests for the northwest division, stating that of the thousands of speeches delivered by Junior Red Cross members the one delivered by Elton Engstrom of Wrangell was considered the best. In order to show further appreciation of the merit of Elton's speech it was published in full in the last number of the Red Cross Bulletin.

Wrangell may justly feel proud of this 13-year-old boy whose speech stirred a local audience, and also received unusual recognition away from home. His speech follows:

MEANING OF OUR RED CROSS

The Red in our cross stands for sacrifice, for giving life as the warm crimson blood gives life to the body. The cross has the same length on all four sides of its arms to signify that it gives life equally to all, high or low, East or West. It stands alone always, no words, no markings on it, to show that the Red Cross workers have only one thought—to serve. They ask no questions, they care not whether the wounded be ours or of another people; their duty is to give and to give quickly. Giving to the Red Cross is by no means a sacrifice, it is a patriotic privilege. The Red Cross stands on a white ground because real sacrifice can come only of pure hearts; service must come, not from hate, but from love, from the noblest thoughts and wishes of the heart, or it will fade. That is why children love this flag, and some day the children of all lands under the Red Cross will teach the grown people the way of understanding and of friendship, the beautiful meaning of the Red Cross which is echoed in their lives. In giving prompt and efficient relief, the Red Cross has won the eternal gratitude of millions of people. The armies of France from commanders down testify to the great good it has accomplished. Our people may well be proud of the record of the Red Cross; the wonderful story can hardly be told in words. It could best be told by the widows and orphans of our gallant Allies, and by the mutilated soldiers to whom it has ministered.

Into France, England, and Italy; into Russia, Belgium, and Greece; into Serbia, Palestine, and Siberia, the flag of the American Red Cross has gone, carrying with it the ideals of our American people. The Red Cross will continue on this greatest humanitarian crusade the world has ever seen, and make our universe a more fit place in which to live. It can rejoicingly be said that the American Red Cross has truly earned its name, "The Greatest Mother in the World."

The appearance of moose and caribou in the suburbs of Dawson has kept the nimrods of the realm busy. Many caribou have been seen near town, on both sides of the Yukon river, and a large number have been shot. Fred Reynolds, living in the Sunndale district, saw a band of caribou and one moose at the haystack near his house. He went out with a rifle and is reported to have captured six caribou and the moose, practically at his door.

J. T. McLean arrived on the Princess Mary Tuesday morning. On Tuesday evening he conducted a Native service at the Army hall. On Wednesday evening he delivered an address on "Miracles; Past and Present." The Brigadier expects to leave tomorrow for Kake and other Native villages.

Have your watch repaired at George Cowan's, in the Uhler Block.

"The New Native" is the name of a new paper at Hyda-burg published by the class in journalism of the Government school under the direction of Marius Hansome, the principal. Boyd Nakathla is advertising manager. The circulation department is in charge of Gideon Duncan. The paper sparkles with news items. Much resourcefulness and originality is shown in its make-up. The New Native starts out with something the Sentinel does not have, and that is a full-page ad. In the salutatory the editor says that the name "The New Native" was chosen for the reason that the Natives of Hyda-burg are no longer the Natives of 20 years ago; they have forsaken their belief in totemism and other antiquated customs and embraced the fruits of civilization. We gladly place The New Native on our exchange list.

Some relief is being afforded to the residents of the Iditarod section by the arrival of a herd of reindeer in charge of A. H. Twitchell, who is disposing of the meat of the deer at a reasonable price. The herd was driven overland from one of the reservations and arrived at the outskirts of Flat City in good condition. The high prices of beef which the residents have had to pay was instrumental in Twitchell doing a thriving business for some days. He will remain in that vicinity until the herd is disposed of.

The wreck inquiry of the Princess Sophia will commence in Vancouver on February 10. Many Juneau steamship men will attend to give testimony.
